

Conference of the Regional Legislative Assemblies of the European Union

Motion for Resolution after the terrorist attacks

THE CALRE

GIVEN THAT

In recent years, the number of terrorist attacks, especially attacks by the Daesh are continuing and intensifying with frequency and fiercely in Europe and throughout the world, starting from the massacre at the editorial offices of the satirical newspaper Charlie Hebdo, and at the kosher supermarket in Paris and from the attack of the Bardo Museum in Tunis until the recent events in Lahore, Pakistan, and those that occurred in Turkey and Africa.

On 13 November 2015 Daesh organized simultaneous terrorist attacks that tragically hit Europe and the city of Paris in the I, X and XI Arrondissement, close to the Stade de France, causing 130 deaths and over 350 wounded.

On 22 March 2016 the whole world witnessed an act of war at the heart of Europe, organized by simultaneous terrorist attacks, claimed by Daesh, which struck the city of Brussels at the Zaventem Airport and at the Metro of Maalbeek, causing 35 deaths and about 300 wounded.

EXPRESSES

Its condolences to all the victims of terrorism, especially to the victims of Brussels and Paris, full support and solidarity with the people and the governments of France and Belgium and support for the people and institutions in the world that have suffered and still suffer daily terrorist attacks and bombings;

Its clear and utter condemnation of all forms of terrorism, religiously motivated or not, of violent and extremist ideology, accomplished in every part of the world as a systematic violation of human rights and international humanitarian law as well as the highest expression of disregard for human life and of hostility toward civil coexistence.

Its commitment to pursuing and ensuring, in its respective regional parliaments and its territories, the values of freedom and democracy that are at the root of an Europe which, now more than ever, needs to re-start from a real proposal for an European social construction and integration.

STATES

As essential values for all citizens, the sanctity of human life, religious freedom, freedom of art and culture, pluralism of ideas, the secular nature of the State in a context where the real challenge is first of all cultural, educational and of social integration.

That the fight against terrorism may not stop continuing strongly in supporting and defending the space of freedom that Europe has always been since its foundation, in which those fundamental principles which underpin the modern rule of law have always been protected;

HOPES THAT

European institutions and the international community, will undertake unanimously diplomatic actions of dialogue and of intervention to stop and combat terrorism, avoiding more pain, massacres and deaths and will promote initiatives to ensure that no type of economic, financial assets or forms of support are available to terrorist groups.

The European institutions and the international community undertake, with unanimous position, common and shared diplomatic actions to prevent and fight terrorism while promoting the construction of bridges and demolition of the walls.
